

Valeo Service launches its new 2009 air-conditioning catalogue

PARIS, France, 24 April 2009 – Valeo, leading specialist on the air-conditioning systems market, has launched its new air-conditioning catalogue for the Aftermarket.

The new catalogue presents Valeo's complete offer of 15 product families in the three fields of maintenance, front-end collision and repairs. Out of the 2,194 products listed, 134 are new, including 43 compressors and 41 cabin filters. Valeo has introduced over 300 new vehicle applications for the Renault Mégane III, Mercedes class A 169 and Citroën C3.

This year's issue - a complete, practical tool essential for repair professionals and vehicle distributors - makes it easier to find the right information more quickly. In addition to the usual chapters on applications, technical codes and illustrations, the catalogue includes two new sections:

- a multi-product cross list to rapidly find front-end products for the most popular vehicles (condensers, pipes and receiver dryers) as well as the corresponding compressor and oil,
- a special section which lists the quantities of fluid and oil for all the models in the catalogue, including the most recent.

As well as a list of products, it gives a brief description of Valeo's complementary offer for the Aftermarket:

- an Air Quality range based on comfort (ClimSpray), maintenance (ClimPur) and filtering (cabin air filters),
- garage equipment:
 - o ClimFill refill station,
 - o diagnostic tools for the air-conditioning system, for example the new ClimTest+;
 - o AirTest diagnostic tool for the cabin air filter;
 - o maintenance and leak detection equipment for the air-conditioning system.

It also includes a presentation on Valeo Clim Service, the number one European network, which has 1,725 members throughout Europe.

With this catalogue, Valeo has developed an efficient, accurate tool to find and select references, which offers access to the complete range of products for air-conditioning circuits. A multilingual version is available worldwide. Valeo used recycled paper to print this catalogue in order to reduce its environmental impact.
